New Computer Server

We have recently been made aware that the JVS server is nearing capacity. Our IT consultants have recommended that we add another server to increase our security and capacity to store our information. One server is specifically used for our accounting software. Another is used for all JVS programs and client information. The necessity for a new server is a result of increased employees, clients and expansions and additions of new programs. A new server is necessary in order to enhance internal IT capacity, including increased security features.
