Our COVID-19 Relief Response

During this unprecedented and challenging time, we've witnessed the strength and resilience of our community as it has come together to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic. JCF fundholders have always been some of our community's most generous supporters and they have risen to the occasion by donating both time and financial resources to help those most affected by the crisis. JCF staff has worked closely with Jewish communal agency leadership to help them navigate this challenging time by providing expert guidance on connecting with donors, accessing small business loans and offering stewardship best practices. Though we may be physically isolated, we remain bound together as members of a vibrant and caring community working together to make a positive impact. JCF and Lauren Hoopes, in particular, has been an incredible asset to JFS as we have navigated the difficult and uncertain times of COVID-19. As need has skyrocketed in our community, she has been an outstanding partner in providing advice and guidance in our efforts to access government and philanthropic resources to fund our expanded services.”

- Don Goldman, Executive Director & CEO of JFS

One of our generous fundholder families recently donated several iPads to Village Shalom so that residents could stay connected to loved ones during the quarantine.
